

The Contents.

- Ch. 55. XII. Whether all trusted in Corporations may declare that there is no Obligation on them or any other, from the Oath call'd The Solemn League and Covenant, not so much as to repent of Sin, or oppose Profaneness, Popery or Schism, and defend the King: and so that G. Monk's Army, and all the rest of the Three Nations that restored the King as obliged to is by that Vow, were all deceived, and not so obliged: and whether all the Subjects must be sure of this.
- Ch. 56. Of Thirty tremendous Circumstances and Principles which all agree in, that affright Men from Conformity.
- Ch. 57. The Reasons for Conformity considered.
- Ch. 58. Whether Communion with so faulty a Church be lawful. Separation confuted.
- Ch. 59. A Draught (in ten Articles) of that which the Reconciling Nonconformists desire for healing our Church Divisions: In the words which they judge meetest to that use.
- Ch. 60. The Reasons of those ten Articles distinctly render'd.
- Ch. 61. Whether the Extirpation of the Nonconformists be not rather to be attempted, than a Union with them by these means: Handled with reference to a late Treasonable Plot against the King.
- Ch. 62. Fifty Questions proposed to unjust Silencers.

E R R A T A.

P. Ag. 100. l. 31. for [I] read [It] p. 103. l. 22. for [Corners] r. [Corners] p. 107. l. 38. for [is] r. [is not] p. 113. l. 13. for [our] r. [one] l. 14. for [Clergy] r. [Churches] p. 115. l. Penult. r. [Stoughton] p. 124. l. 13. for [our] r. [one] p. 129. l. 15. for [is is] r. [is is] p. 131. l. 25. r. [well as] p. 134. l. 13. r. [If it] p. 144. l. 23. dele [revoked.]

(1)

THE True CASE OF THE English Nonconformity,

In a DIALOGUE between
A Silenced MINISTER and a LAWYER.

CHAP. I.

The Introductory Conference.

Lawyer. SIR, the danger of the Kings Dominions by our Irreligious Contentions about Religion, possesseth the observers with just indignation; but all know not on whom to lay the blame; some lay it on the Bishops, and some on the Nonconformists, and some on both: I am unwilling to wrong any; but when I think of our danger, and hear that it is but Ceremonies, and things indifferent for which you break the Law, and make a Schism in the Church, and weaken us by divisions; I cannot but think you deeply guilty.

Minister. How long have you so judged?

L. These twenty years, ever since you were put out.

M. Did you ever by Reading and Conference with those that you

B